

Tracking Your Marketing Funnel to Improve Leads & Sales

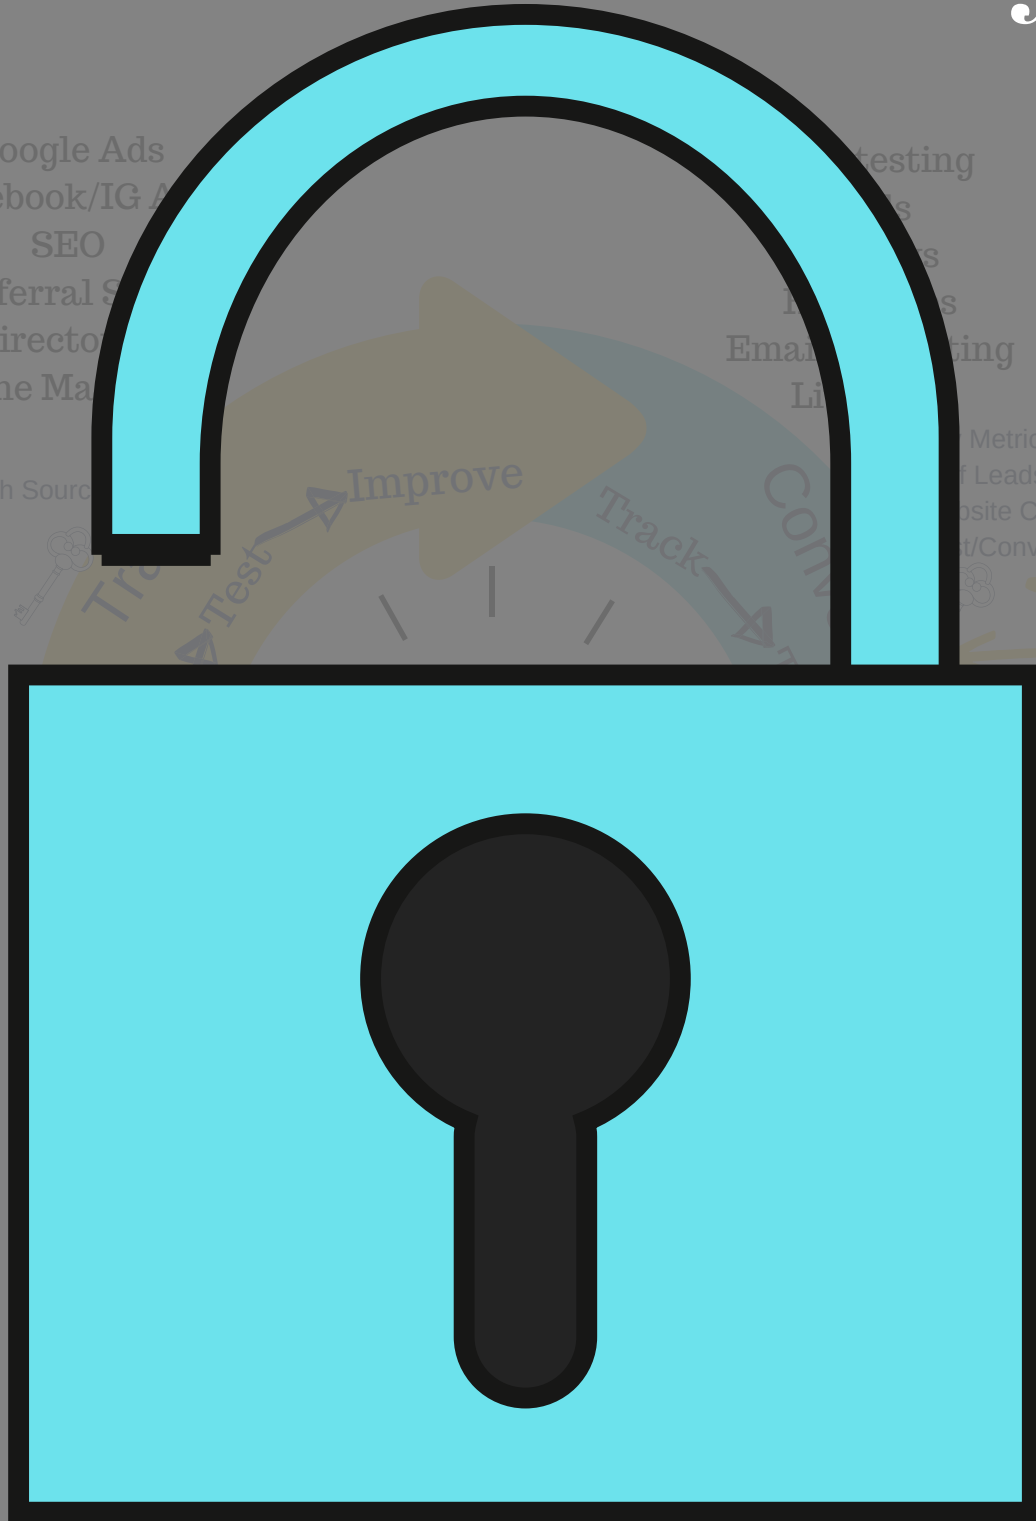

The following is an inverted marketing funnel. These are the metrics you should fill out for each step of your funnel and track monthly. Start at the bottom and work your way up as you fill in the blanks.

After entering each part of the process individually, the information you glean from this will tell you what you need to know about how your funnel is doing as a whole and where improvements can be made to increase sales conversions.

3 Steps to Understanding How to Get More Leads Online

Traffic

(Past 90 Days)

How many people have visited your website from:

- Organic traffic through search engines (SEO)
- Paid traffic through search engines (Google Ads or Bing Ads, PPC) via paid search ads or display advertising
- Direct traffic
- Referral Traffic (other sites & online directories)
- Social Traffic

Web Contacts: How many total people contacted you through your site and online presence?

- Phone calls through a tracked number
- Web form inquiries
- How many came from each traffic channel?
- Website contact conversion rate = total number of contacts from the web / total number of website visitors in your territory

Leads:

- Of the calls and web form inquiries how many were leads (providing name, email, and phone number) vs. current customers, vendors, or non-sales related?
- How many came from each traffic channel?
- How many came from each traffic channel?
- Website LEAD conversion rate = total number of leads from the web / total number of website visitors in your territory

Appointments

- Of the leads you received from the web, how many appointments did you set?

Sales

- Of the appointments you set from the web, how many turned into sales?
- Calculate your marketing return on investment = (Sales Revenue - Cost of Marketing) / Cost of Marketing

Expert Tip

This high-level marketing funnel worksheet will reveal where the holes are, so you can work with your marketing company to fix the areas that are leaking ideal prospects out of your funnel.

However, a great marketing company will be able to identify the leads, appointments, and sales all the way back to the initial online keyword search or ad that hooked them in.

When they have this level of data, they are then able to allocate your budget more towards what works and less towards what doesn't - improving the conversion rate at each step!

Our team can better help you understand where the holes are in your funnel.
